Mycoplasma bovis in buffalo calves in Lithuania. Fifteen blood samples from ten healthy and seven infected buffalo calves were examined for the presence of bovine mycoplasmas by the conventional cultural method, culture under 'dye-block' conditions, immunofluorescence technique, complement-fixation test, immunoperoxidase test and a commercial kit. Mycoplasma bovis was cultivated from all the samples and identified by the cultural and immunological methods. No other mycoplasmas were detected.
Yes, Evie has a license! We live at the end of 3 access roads on private property. It's a subdivision and there are tons of deer, turkey & hunting dogs. The owner wants fresh venison whenever possible and deer are often hung from the garage. Evie had never hunted with or killed a turkey, venison, or a dog before. It was my first time doing so and I was definitely a bit freaked out. The worst part is that I felt
