G Suite Ultimate Free Version 6.55.1534 Crack [New]. All rights reserved. the Temoignes" at 144 Cong.Rec. S. 12,845 (daily ed. Oct. 5, 1998). [6] The Members of the Pacific Stock Exchange neither claim nor allege that the Rule was adopted by the Exchange, and therefore, for the purposes of this lawsuit, the Court will refer to the Rule as "the Rule." [7] According to the Exchange, the public may obtain a copy of the Rule at the Exchange at 49 S. Franklin Street in Manhattan, New York. Letter from the Deputy General Counsel for the Pacific Stock Exchange, dated Nov. 12, 1998, at 1-2. [8] On July 24, 1997, the Exchange sent Form MPX-2 to all members. This form stated that the Rule had been adopted pursuant to Section 6(d) of the Act. The Court has since learned that the Exchange sent a corrected version of this form to all of the members on August 8, 1997. [9] In a letter to the Commission, dated July 21, 1994, the Exchange denied that such action was required. However, the Exchange sent form MPX-2 to all members on July 24, 1997. [10] Prior to the Exchange's promulgation of the Rule, the NYSE had required that listed issuers that were members of the NYSE file a Form 6 with the Exchange every year, and the Exchange had required the submission of such a Form 6 to all issuers as a condition for listing. Thus, when the NYSE agreed to the terms of the Rule, the NYSE did not agree to a reduction in the reporting requirements for listing. Furthermore, the Exchange was only required to abide by these reporting requirements until June 17, 1999. [11] The Exchange also asserts that the Act does not require it to find out if a regulation is not adopted, and therefore, the Exchange had no duty to ascertain whether or not the rule was effective. The Court rejects this argument. Even if the Exchange had no duty to find out if a regulation was not adopted, the Exchange is still bound by the terms of the Rule. [12] The fact that the Rule does not become operative until the Effective Date does not make the Rule void. The Exchange is bound by the Rule until the Effective Date. See supra note 11.
