There are a couple of official Starcraft 2 beta keys that you can earn, or you can purchase them. Both are listed below. Use your beta key to register at the Battle.net site and you will receive the Beta key. You should also be able to log into Battle.net with your key in order to download the additional keys that you need. Once youve done that, you can purchase a key for $29.99. The Starcraft 2 beta key will be good for a couple of months, so choose your future purchases wisely. The manual for SC2 beta says: Open the folder where you downloaded Starcraft 2.exe. Double-click on Starcraft2.exe to run the exe file. The beta can be installed to your hard drive or run from a CD-ROM. Please note, these keys are temporary, so don't worry if they arent working right away. This is just so that you have access to the Beta when it is ready. Once the Beta program is over, these keys will no longer work. Windows XP / Vista / 7 / 8 / 8.1 or higher DirectX 9.0c compatible video card with Shader Model 3.0 or higher 1.4 GHz CPU or faster processor 2 GB RAM or higher 3 GB available hard drive space (ex. 60 GB) 128 MB graphics card (Voodoo or Alchemy) or higher 2 USB ports Although Im a huge fan of the Resident Evil series, I was very confused during this demo. I started off confusedly wondering what the hell was going on in the first few moments of the demo. The scenario is straight out of Resident Evil 2, playing as a regular character who is searching for her partner, Chris. Chris has been infected with a zombie disease called the T-Virus which causes him to turn into a ravenous zombie horror, making him the Nemesis of the very few remaining survivors. After a few seconds, I learned the purpose of the demo. The group of survivors is in a giant room infested with mutated animals. The group is composed of four types of animals, which are quickly slaughtered. An enormous group of savages with mutated antlers invade the underground room. In the end, a scientist is shot while trying to run away. Upon defeating a clapping action figure monster, one of the mutated animals rushes out of view. Two female action figures tumble off the ceiling and fall to the ground, almost looking dead. Two other female mutants are shot and killed. Finally, the group of survivors march to the exit, unknowingly making our last stand.
