One of the things we found along the way was that while bringing changes to Photoshop was relatively smooth, incorporating new features into the workflow was not. This release addresses these issues with the Creative Cloud Draft Workflows, which will replace our previous Creative Cloud Draft Wrangler workflow. The new workflow was developed by our team of beta Testers, who gave us painstaking feedback on the new workflow as we introduced different features. We've made their feedback part of the development process as we continue to introduce new features to the Creative Cloud and Photoshop. In this release, we've implemented a single, unified work flow that's integrated across the Creative Cloud and Photoshop, as well as across teams and apps.
