I suspect that's what's really bugging me -- I can't even forget about it until I see the money in my hand. I just think it's inexcusable to accept someone else's payment for the purchase of a tool used to earn money. If you want to "forgive" me and let me keep the camera, then I'll readily accept it. I can understand some folks' frustration with the situation, but I still feel I've been defrauded. Just a few things to consider here. It sounds like I was not being offered a "trade in allowance" for the purchase. Meaning, it was not a deal where if you bought the camera 79a2804d6b
