Q: Web API : Login not working with custom UserPasswordValidator I am developing a asp.net mvc 4 application with a restful api using Web API. I am using Entity Framework 5 and Identity 2.0. I am facing a problem with a custom user validation. Basically I am using a UserPasswordValidator which checks if a password is correct and it will reject the login request if it's not. I also enable the anonymous access to make it easier to try the API without having an user in the database. So here is my UserPasswordValidator :

public class UserPasswordValidator : Validator { public UserPasswordValidator() { this.PasswordStrengthRegularExpression = Regex.Escape(Config.DefaultPasswordRegularExpression); } public override void Validate(ApplicationUser user) { if (user == null) throw new ArgumentNullException("user"); if (user.Password == null) throw new ArgumentNullException("user.Password"); if (!Regex.IsMatch(user.

Re: Can someone help me with this. I'm not sure that you have a controller of either of these USB or

Bluetooth devices, especially since you can not see what is on the board or on the lead that goes to the device. If you are using a PC, is it in Media Center? The user mode of the device, which is where the DIR is located, has a "Tools" button in the top left. You can go to that, select the "Programmers/Repair Mode" and it will show you what is on the board. Re: Can someone help me with this 2edc1e01e8
